Paso Robles High School to Celebrate Ribbon Cutting of New Agriculture Barn

Paso Robles, Calif. — Paso Robles Joint Unified School District will celebrate the official ribbon cutting of the new Agriculture Barn at Paso Robles High School on Friday, April 24, 2026, at 3:30 p.m.

The new facility marks a significant investment in agricultural education, providing students with a modern, fully enclosed, temperature-regulated environment designed to support both student learning and animal welfare.

The new barn creates a more consistent space for livestock, particularly for animals that are sensitive to temperature fluctuations, such as hogs. In addition to improving conditions for animals, the new facility enhances the student experience by offering a more comfortable environment for daily care, project work, and hands-on learning.

“This new barn represents a major step forward for our agriculture program,” said Theresa Clark, Agriculture Department Chair at Paso Robles High School. “It allows us to better care for our animals, expand opportunities for students, and create a space that can be used year-round for instruction and community engagement.”

Students will use the barn for show practices and project development, while the department also plans to host youth educational clinics in the new space—expanding outreach and creating additional opportunities for younger students to engage with agricultural education,

The community is invited to attend the ribbon cutting ceremony and join in celebrating this important addition to Paso Robles High School’s Agriculture programs.
